A USDC Mixer, also known as a USDC Tumbler is an online service helping USDC owners to regain privacy over there USDC

The most way to buy cryptocurrencies such as USDC, is through an exchanger. An exchange should not store the USDC using their wallet card after "verifying their identity" by providing their exchange with a official ID card.

The process described as a security feature, is actually a risk from the governments forcing their exchanges to collect and share their personal information with them.

Once that done and receive the aforementioned you can use the USDC in public. However, having your ID will be able to watch your wallet and how much you spend for your own funds.

However, there is a legal way to gain back your crypto privacy. It's called a USDC Mixer

How does USDC mixer work?

USDC Mixer can support various crypto and work in two ways.

They will use one of their liquidity pool to receive your USDC and then mix it with other users' USDC.

They may not use another of their liquidity pool to provide you with other crypto.

Therefore, the token you will receive on your new wallet after that mixing procedure will not be related to your original blockchain.
